

This piece of sheepskin parchment approximately 1/2-inch square was retrieved in 1897 by a drill operating at about 153 feet in the original pit area. The letters are believed to have been written with a quill pen in India ink.

Boatswain's whistle made of bone or ivory found at Smith's Cove about 1901.

Franklin D. Roosevelt (third from right) participated in a 1909 exploration group at Oak Island. Although unsuccessful, he maintained a lifelong interest in the Oak Island mystery.